HAPPINESS IS 4-H

By Frank H. Sweet
Extension Agent

One hundred and seventy 4-H members from Appomattox attended Holiday Lake 4-H Camp last week. Special congratulations go to Mike McCoy who was selected as the outstanding "Camper of the Week." This award includes a one-half scholarship to next summer's 4-H Camp.

Also selected as one of two outstanding teen leaders was Laurie McLean. Additional teens making a big contribution to the camp were: Susan Parris, Tamara Nash, Willis Fleshman, Tommy Williams, Lisa Moore, David Caldwell, Philip Jacobs, Vicki Glover, Cheryl Walton, and Rhonda Nash.

Adult volunteers assisting with camp this year were Mrs. Anne Robinson, Miss Pam White, Mrs. Alease Cobb and Michael Hancock. We are most appreciative of these persons for their help at 4-H Camp.

Community Clubs should be thinking about entering educational exhibits in the Five County Fair. Each club may prepare an exhibit for this year's fair. Details will be available in the Fair catalogs which will hopefully be available next week.

* * *

The 4-H Forestry project has been re-designed and now offers a very informative members manual. This is a project that more of our 4-H'ers should work with as the forest industry is so important to our area of Virginia.

All of last year's project materials will be due by the middle of October.

* * *

4-H members who have home vegetable gardens should work towards having some excellent vegetable exhibits at the Five County Fair this year. With the good season we've had, our vegetables should be the best in years. We'll have an article on exhibiting vegetables in a future issue of the Times-Virginian to help 4-H'ers who are planning to have vegetables in the Fair. 4-H'ers may also wish to stop by our office and ask for a copy of the booklet "Exhibiting Vegetables in Virginia."

4-H'ers will want to welcome Miss Lonnette Marsh who began work with us this week. Miss Marsh will be working with many of the 4-H activities during the year.

Gladys Man Competes For National Recognition

Working in the forest provides more than an income for Binnie Nash of Gladys, Virginia. It's a way of life. In recognition of the success the 21 year old was recently named Eastern Region Star Agribusinessman of America by the FFA Board of Directors and National Officers. As one of four regional agribusiness award winners, Nash is now eligible to travel to Kansas City where he will compete during the National FFA Convention for top national FFA recognition as Star Agribusinessman of America.

Binnie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Binford Nash of Gladys and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Nash of Appomattox.

Nash, who has already earned the National FFA Proficiency Award in Forest Management, traces his roots in the forest business back to the days of working with his father and grandfather in the family's sawmill and lumberyard business. "Even before I enrolled in the vocational agriculture program, I worked my father's operation and began learning the business and skills of operating heavy logging machinery," Nash acknowledges. After enrolling in the program, however, he began developing and expanding his own logging business in his spare time and on week ends.

An outstanding student at William Campbell High School, Binnie was an honor student and served as president and treasurer of his FFA chapter. He was a delegate to Boys State and the State BETA Convention. He was also on the track and football teams.

In the William Campbell FFA chapter, Nash took an active leadership role. He served as president and treasurer of the chapter and was chairman of the Building Our American Communities Committee the year that the chapter earned national recognition as one of the regional finalists. In addition Binnie was a member of the Chapter Forestry Judging Team and was named Star Chapter Greenhand and Star Chapter Farmer.

Since graduation Binnie has kept actively involved in projects outside his logging operation. He serves the Keehn Baptist Church as a deacon and is an active member of several community organizations.

Already well on the way to becoming firmly established in the logging business Nash has heavily invested in timber harvesting machinery. With a crew of three men and himself, the B.B. Nash, Jr. logging operation produces about 300 cords of pulpwood and 125,000 board feet of sawlogs per month.

Binnie's success in the logging business is a result of his skillful management and hard work says his vocational agriculture instructor James Puckett. "Binnie has established his business as a sound financial investment," says Puckett, noting that Nash was an outstanding student and member of the forestry judging team who was able to reason and apply sound management ideas.

Although Binnie has not been able to continue his formal education, he is constantly seeking new ideas and works closely with the Virginia Division of Forestry. He believes in the importance of replanting forests and has planted more than 14,000 tree seedlings.

Binnie believes that there is a great future in the forestry industry and plans to continue to build his operaiton to take advantage of the opportunities.

March of Dimes Poster Child To E nter School For First Time

Like hundreds of other children, four-and-a-half-year-old Candice Nicole Campbell of Bedford County will be going to school for the first time this fall.

But, unlike all the other kindergarten students, "Nici", as she is known, is someone very special. She's this year's poster child for the Central Virginia March of Dimes.

Nici was born September 13, 1973, at Virginia Baptist Hospital, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Guill of Bedford and Mr. Ronnie Campbell of Lynchburg.

At birth, Nici was suffering from Hydrocephalus and, at the age of five weeks, underwent surgery to relieve pressure on her brain.

Now, a little over four years late, she has been selected to symbolize the fight of the March of Dimes against all birth defects. She will represent the Central Virginia Chapter for 1978-79.

Nici is a great music lover and enjoys singing and pretending to play the piano.

She can do almost anything other four-year-olds can and likes to go for walks, swing at a playground, and play with her dog, Freckles.
